

How to Follow Your Permit in ACA

Search for your application

In order to check the real-time status of your application, we recommend creating a username and password in order to fully utilize the functionality of the Accela Citizen Access (ACA) website. To do this, click the "Register for an Account" button at the top of the home page - <https://aca-prod.accela.com/OLMSTED>

Once you are logged in, any permit applications that you have applied for through ACA will show in the "My Records" tab. If your application was not submitted through ACA, you will need to search for the application. If you know the permit number you can type it into the search bar at the top of the page. If you do not know the permit number, you will need to search by address, selecting the Building, Well, and Septic Permits tab, and underneath that you will select "Search Applications/Permits".

If searching by address, select Building, Well, & Septic Permits and Search Applications/Permits

If searching by permit number, type the full permit number (will start with the letter O, not a zero) into the search bar and hit "enter"

To search an address, find the "General Search" section on the search page and enter the address information. You can change the search type drop down to address if you wish, but a general search will produce the same results as an address search. If your search for the address returns "No records found" this may be because the address either does not exist or there is an issue with the search criteria. One of the best ways to produce accurate search results is to use less information which will show more results to choose from.

An example of using less information in your search criteria would be to only use the building number and street name or utilizing the wildcard search function. This is the % or * symbol, which can be inserted in your search criteria to show all results that include the criteria prior to the wildcard symbol.

Property Address: 4 Fisherman Dr NW, Oronoco, MN 55960

What to enter: Building No ('from' or 'to'): 4 Street Name: Fish%

If your search still returns "No Records Found", try only entering the building number – sometimes the street name may not be spelled as expected (example: Ranchview versus Ranch View).

Once your search produces results, you can select the permit you are looking for, using the Permit Type to determine which one is the correct permit if there are multiple results.

Checking Permit Status

Once you are on the page displaying your permit information, you can see the Record Status listed under the building permit number and type. For more information on the status, or to check the real-time review status, click the "Related Info" tab and select "Processing Status".

The inspections page will show all completed and scheduled inspections for this permit. You can select the "View Details" link which will allow you to view any comments that were entered by the inspector for this particular inspection. From there, you will select the "Schedule or Request and Inspection" link. A separate window will pop open on the page and prompt you to select a type of inspection. If no options are showing, make sure you are logged into the site and you have the box under "Available Inspection Types" selected.

Once you have selected an inspection type, click "Continue" and you will be prompted to select a date for the inspection to occur. After you select the date, a time frame option will be available for you to select. Please note – depending on other inspections scheduled for the day, we cannot guarantee that the time frame you select will be available. Our staff will reach out to you if there is any issue with the requested date/time. If the date you want is not available to select (will be gray as opposed to blue), this means there are no available inspections that day and you must select another day.
